Neets has designed a range of input panels to support the Neets Control. The primary purpose of the input panels is to hide cables to avoid plain and unfortunate terminations. The cables are hidden in the wall and end in the input panels. Besides the fact that the design of the input panels is elegant and discrete, it is especially made to fit the Scandinavian design in general. The input panels represent a complete and neat solution to your conference room. They are an integrated solution as they fit the design of the other switches in the panel perfectly.
